Infection Control Modules

The Commission has developed 10 infection prevention and control modules for healthcare workers who require more detailed information on infection prevention and control.

These modules are based on the content of the Australian Guidelines for the Prevention and Control of Infection in Healthcare.

An updated version of the workbook is available on the Commission's website - Infection Prevention and Control Workbook 2019

<https://www.safetyandquality.gov.au/our-work/infection-prevention-and-control/infection-prevention-and-control-elearning-modules>

An orientation module on the basics of infection prevention and control is also available. This module is suitable for staff working in both clinical and non-clinical settings.
